Enterkine House

A Warm Welcome to Enterkine...

Built in the 1930's to the highest specification, the house and estate was bought by the Honourable Alan Mackay, grandson of the First Earl of Inchcape who was a founding member of the P&O Shipping Line.

The present owners were childhood visitors to the Mackay family home and purchased Enterkine in 2000, converting the property to the Country House it is today. Approached by a long, winding avenue flanked by mature trees, you will feel you are leaving the stresses of the real world behind as you are engulfed in this countryside of over 350 acres of Ayrshire countryside at its very best.

While Enterkine is a perfect setting for a personal retreat, it is also ideal for corporate gatherings or private dinners where complete privacy and exclusivity is important. As a base for luxury breaks Enterkine could hardly be better placed. Close to Glasgow Prestwick Airport and the ferry port at Troon, access is easy and the cities of Glasgow and Edinburgh are within comfortable driving distance. Close to two Open Golf Championships Golf Courses of Royal Troon and Turnberry and numerous qualifying courses.

Exclusively Yours...

As you would expect from a classic country house, Enterkine belongs to its guests and it is very much their home for the duration of their stay.

Guests arrive at Enterkine to be individually welcomed into the elegant entrance hall. From there they are inevitably drawn to the main reception room with its beautiful soft furnishings, grand piano and blazing log fire.

Whatever the season, guests can enjoy Browne's restaurant with its spectacular views over the Enterkine's vast estate.

The elegant Private Dining Room, book-lined Library and tranquil Garden Room provide guests with the right setting whatever the occasion, whatever their mood.

Beauty treatments and therapies form part of the pampering and relaxation mood staff at Enterkine try to create. We can arrange treatments to be given in the privacy of your own bedroom during your stay with us. For the more energetic we can arrange activities on site including clays, archery and quads.

Accommodation...

Enterkine has six very individual, stylish and comfortable bedrooms each with it's own spacious bathroom.

In keeping with its luxury hotel status, each of the suites has been furnished and decorated to the highest specification, ensuring comfort and a feeling of luxury throughout your stay.

Each room is a private haven, a place for you to relax and unwind. The usual luxuries are included, tea/coffee tray, television and magnificent views!

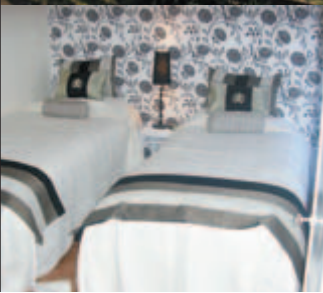

another seven... ...in Kirk House

Kirk House is a 3 minute walk from the main house.

It is an ideal property for a small casual golfing group, family get together or any group of 7-14 guests who would appreciate the privacy of a separate house. Residents in Kirk House have breakfast served in the main house each morning.

The house also has a private and secure garden and ample space for car parking.

Enterkine's reputation as one of Scotland's finest restaurants is well established.

Using the best of Scottish ingredients sourced from garden, farm and sea added to the ingenuity of its chefs, at Enterkine you are guaranteed a culinary experience rarely found in such a consistent way.

Whether it is lunch, dinner, a special celebratory banquet in our new Marquee or simply a leisurely breakfast, dining at Enterkine is always a memorable event.

Private Dining...

The exquisite Private Dining Room provides those looking for an exclusive dining experience with something that is truly unique.

Accommodating up to 15 guests around its elegant, oval table dressed with the finest silver and crystal, you will be provided with your own butler service and exclusive use of the adjoining library for pre-meal drinks.

Weddings at Enterkine...

A very special place for your unique day

We listen, we plan, we discuss... to make your wedding unique whether it is to be an intimate House Wedding or a large scale event in our own permanent Wedding Marquee.

Corporate Events & Business Meetings

Enterkine is also the perfect setting for board meetings, staff training courses, conferences and private interviews. It offers that 'away from it all' think and planning time so often sought after by busy directors or staff teams.

Our Garden Room with its French Doors onto the lawn provides a peaceful and private workspace with plenty of natural daylight. Team leisure activities including clay pigeon shooting, archery, 4x4 off-road driving are just some of the outdoor pursuits that can be arranged within the estate. The House may also be reserved for private use. The Marquee can also be used for lunches, seminars and presentations.

House Weddings... Yours and only yours

We can host up to 70 guests within the main house, with the house and estate being made exclusively yours for as long as you require. Your ceremony can also take place at Enterkine, either being set up on the Front Lawn or in the Garden Room. We are also able to offer a comprehensive range of extras for your special day - from beauty treatments, musicians, themed activities, fireworks... whatever you require, just ask and arrangements will be made on your behalf.

The Marquee... The unique venue

We are able to host up to 200 guests in our own permanent, luxury marquee. Furnished and finished to the highest of standards, we will provide the same high level of service, food and ambience, all of which have become synonymous with Enterkine.
